DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 3/11/2004 is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Specification

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) THE NAMES OF THE PARTIES TO A JOINT RESEARCH AGREEMENT.
- (e) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC.
- (f) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
  - (1) Field of the Invention.
  - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (g) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (h) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (i) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (j) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (l) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5,922,003 to Anctil et al.

(claim 1) Anctil discloses a rotary tissue cutting instrument comprising:

an outer tubular member 14 having a hub 12, a proximal portion 820 having a longitudinal axis extending distally from the hub to a proximal bend 822 curving in a first direction, an intermediate portion 888 extending distally at an angle to said longitudinal axis of said proximal portion in a first plane, the intermediate section extending from the proximal bend to a distal bend;

a distal portion 824 extending distally from the distal bend, wherein the distal portion is fully capable of being in a second plane (as disclosed in col. 13, lines 27-31, the bends can be in the same plane as shown in Fig. 26 or in different planes dependent upon the procedure for which the instrument is designed); the distal portion having an opening 830 therein; and an inner member 714 rotatably disposed in the outer tubular member and having a proximal end for mounting to a powered handpiece and a distal cutting tip 738.

Art Unit: 3731

(claim 5) As seen in Fig. 26, the proximal, intermediate and distal portions are straight.

(claim 6) As seen in Fig. 26, the intermediate portion has the longest length, followed by the proximal portion, and then by the distal portion.

(claim 7) There is a suction passage extending along the inner member (col. 10, lines 19-25).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Anctil et al.

Anctil fails to specifically teach the angle of a first plane relative to a second plane to be between 10-120 degrees. However, Anctil discloses that the bends can be greater than 30 degrees and that the bends can be in different planes, depending on the intended use of the device. Therefore, the device of Ancil is fully capable of having a first plane that is offset between 10-120 degrees compared to a second plane. If this is not inherent, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to arrive at said range because the actual angle of bend is merely dependent upon the actual procedure for the instrument (col. 13, lines 27-31).

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
